Award description:

Common Purpose is well known for its training programmes which bring together key decision-makers within particular towns and cities to give them the information, skills and contacts to work to make life better for the people who live there. Over three years, this scheme made 321 Awards to 'community entrepreneurs' throughout the UK – ordinary people with the potential and drive to make a difference in their local communities, but who might not see themselves as potential leaders or decision makers. Each undertook specifically designed training in their own home town and then worked with others towards a project or campaign to help their community.
