

New development

Common Purpose's campaign to improve the way society works extends around the world through the work of Common Purpose International.

Alison Coburn is the Chief Executive of Common Purpose International. Contact her at alison.coburn@commonpurpose.org

Common Purpose International is indebted to its sponsors, without whom developments in new countries and cities would not be possible. Our aims are achieved in part by the gifts both in money and in kind that we receive. We are particularly grateful to the following supporters:

- . Vodafone Global Foundation for their support of development in six new countries
- 0. The Financial Times
- 0. Department for International Development
- 0. Westminster Foundation for Democracy
- 0. The Robert Bosch Foundation

Find out more information about how Common Purpose is developed in new countries...