

"The view from your office window seldom changes. If we want our leaders to see the bigger picture, they have to go out and see the world through other people's eyes."

Sir David Bell - Chairman, Financial Times Group & Trustee Common Purpose

Where else do we find the fingerprints of Sir David Bell?

David has been a Director of Pearson since 1996, the largest educational publisher in the world, which also owns the Penguin Group and the Financial Times Group. He is also on the Council of Roehampton University, London

he is also listed as one of the Directors of ImagineNations http://www.imagenations.org/bios/david_bell.aspx

According to its website <http://www.imagenations.org/about/overview.aspx> ImagineNations' mission is to mobilize young people around the world in envisioning for themselves and their respective countries a better life. ImagineNations seeks to design and develop scaleable and sustainable bottom-up approaches to support youth investment and to inform and influence policy and program development, particularly those related to achieving the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) by serving as a thought leader, catalyst, convener and knowledge broker.

In addition he is the Chair of Trustees at the Transformation Trust <http://www.transformationtrust.org.uk/Who-we-are/trustees.html>

Other trustees of the Transformation Trust include:

Lord David Puttnam

President of UNICEF UK in July 2002, and has played a key role in promoting UNICEF's advocacy, awareness and fundraising objectives. first Chair of the General Teaching Council (2000-2002), Deputy Chairman of Channel Four

Sir Tim Brighouse

Recently Chief Adviser for London Schools and formerly Chief Education Officer of Birmingham and Oxfordshire,

Lord Tony Hall

Until 2001, Tony Hall was Chief Executive BBC News and launched Radio 5 Live, Britain's first 24 News and Sport Radio channel, BBC News 24, BBC News Online and BBC Parliament. He built the BBC news gathering network to be a world beater.

He is also a member of the Management Committee of the Clore Leadership Programme. He is also a non-executive Director of Channel 4 Television, and of Learn Direct.

Baroness Patricia Morris

a Trustee of UNICEF UK

Tim Byles

Tim Byles joined Partnerships for Schools in November 2006.