Leadership Masterclash - 6 March 2009

Explore some of the big, unavoidable and taboo leadership issues - head on. Hear from leaders about their own, often opposing, encounters and experiences and share your views on what it takes to lead beyond your authority.

For those who want to improve how they lead complex change, be it at work or in society, but always beyond their authority.

We will help you: spot ideas, grasp moments, build coalitions, sidestep obstacles, set the pace, engage stakeholders, drive on relentlessly, neutralise opposition, overcome fears (especially your own), listen hard, inspire colleagues, survive the flak, balance priorities, sweep forward, maintain perspective, challenge hard, communicate effectively, persuade doubters.

There will be Masterclasses run concurrently throughout the day with different hosts. Julia Middleton will run a drop-in class all day. There will be clashes in the middle of the day on two topics: "Positive discrimination is a necessary evil" and "Transparency must be complete".

Join whenever you like, stay all day, or dip in and out.
