

What others say of Common Purpose.....

"The view from your office window seldom changes. If we want our leaders to see the bigger picture, they have to go out and see the world through other people's eyes."

David Bell
Chairman, Financial Times, Trustee Common Purpose

"There are no easy answers - and Common Purpose is no easy ride. It challenges every personal and professional prejudice you have. It's unsettling. It's also the best learning I've ever done."

Susan Rice
Chief Executive, Lloyds TSB Scotland

"Most organisations see diversity as a threat - a legal tripwire that must be carefully negotiated. Common Purpose reveals it as a strength that can open up huge new opportunities."

Janet Pareskeva
Chief Executive, The Law Society

"Someone once defined partnership as the suppression of loathing in the pursuit of funding. Common Purpose sees it as the catalyst for dramatic social change."

Roisin McDonough,
Chief Executive, Arts Council for Northern Ireland

"There's a whole new generation who see both party politics and office politics as irrelevant to their lives. They're looking for their own ways to change the world. And they're looking to Common Purpose to help."

Richard Sambrook,
Director, BBC News